

Photos from the WACCAR Peace Journalism seminar held at Giraffe Ocean View Hotel, Dar es Salaam on 26-27 March 2010

(1) Mr John Agunda of Mwananchi Ltd (Nation Media Group) presenting his paper on the topic “News values in East Africa”

(2) Participants take their copies of displayed resource materials

(3) A group photograph of most of the seminar participants

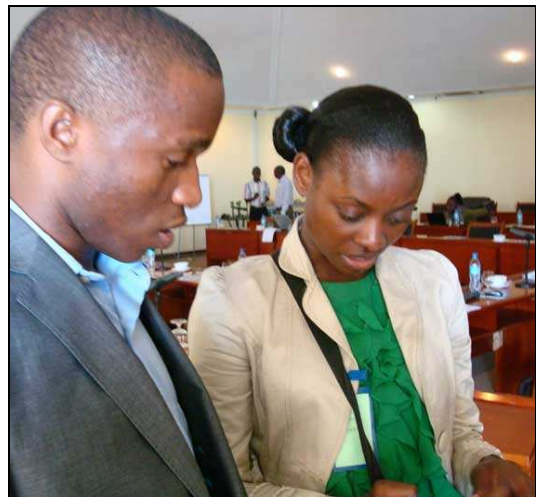

(4) Leah Komen a lecturer from Daystar University asks a question during a Question/Answer (Q&A) session

(5) Fr. Christantus Ndaga, a participant from AMACEA (Kenya) gives his comments during a Q&A session

(6) Academicians exchange ideas, Dr Levi Obonyo (l) the Head of Communication Department at Daystar University-Kenya talks with Dr Nassanga Goretti of Makerere University, Uganda

(7) Taking time to network – Paul Dotto (l) a student from the University of Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, talks to Pelagie Tuyisenge @, the communication officer of Peace Healing and Reconciliation Program (PHARP) based in Kenya

(8) Mr Bernard Okok (of African Council of Religious Leaders – ACRL) formerly with Nairobi Peace Initiative, emphasizes a point while presenting his paper on the topic “Religious communication in East Africa

(9) Rev. Henk van Ingen, WACCAR vice-president, moderator of the seminar’s opening session, listens to Dr George Lugalambi of Makerere presenting his paper

(10) Participants pay keen attention during one of the presentations